Chambers People are currently instructed by several clients who seek to recruit barristers to join chambers or an advocacy team.

These numerous opportunities suit all levels of experience and include a wide range of disciplines.

If you are interested in seeking a new home or changing the way you work, please contact our Chambers People consultants John Charles Charlick or Alan Brewer for a confidential conversation about opportunities for your career development.

We also host The Barrister Hub – a home for independent barristers who require clerking and administration services.
