

IN-HOUSE COUNSEL (AVIATION)

An opportunity for a barrister to join a dynamic team at one of the UK's leading defence practices in the field of air passenger rights litigation, acting for some of the world's largest airlines.

Prior experience in aviation law or related fields is desirable but not essential, and experienced criminal barristers with excellent analytical and advocacy skills are welcome to apply.

A full-time post with a competitive salary and conditions. See website for further details.
