Belly bands

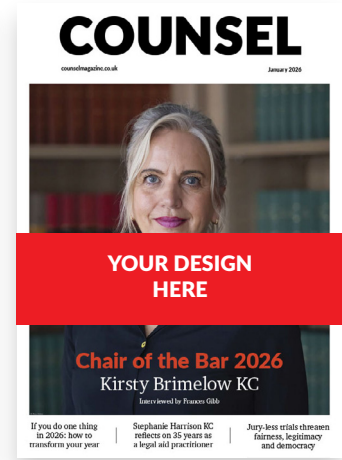

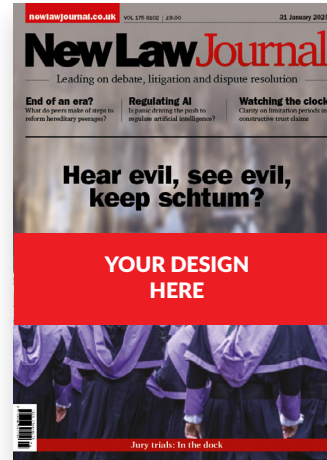

The 'belly band' ad format is hard to ignore. The paper ad is wrapped around a magazine and has to be removed, by tearing or sliding off, before the publication can be opened.

A message can be found on both sides of the band usually with a call to action on the back.

Our recent introduction of belly bands has garnered much attention from our audience.

- Draw attention and encourage reader interaction
- Extend usable space in premium location
- Build anticipation
- Convey prestige as a high profile ad placement
